

News

EV Resource Podcast Featuring Timothy Gotsick

Download Article

Timothy Gotsick, VP of Innovation and Technology at MacDermid Enthone had the opportunity to speak with Zack Hurst on this week's episode of the EV Resource podcast. Their engaging discussion highlighted inverter construction and coatings for steel battery box lids and dove into the world of Formula E and MotoE™ as a testing ground for innovations in the EV sector. Throughout their conversation, Zack and Timothy examined the unique challenges and opportunities that EV automakers are facing around the world, and explored opportunities to overcome range anxiety, optimize charging, and enhance vehicle speed and efficiency.

Click to listen to the full episode, available now at ev-resource.com.

Download Article